Preliminary sketches, drawn larger than full size to show detail, full of construction lines aimed at building a first understanding of a real product or environment. These are not promoitional graphics, their purpose is to get to grips with the detail. Never 100% finished as more details will be unearhed as your investigation continues.
Dont be frightened to make mistakes.
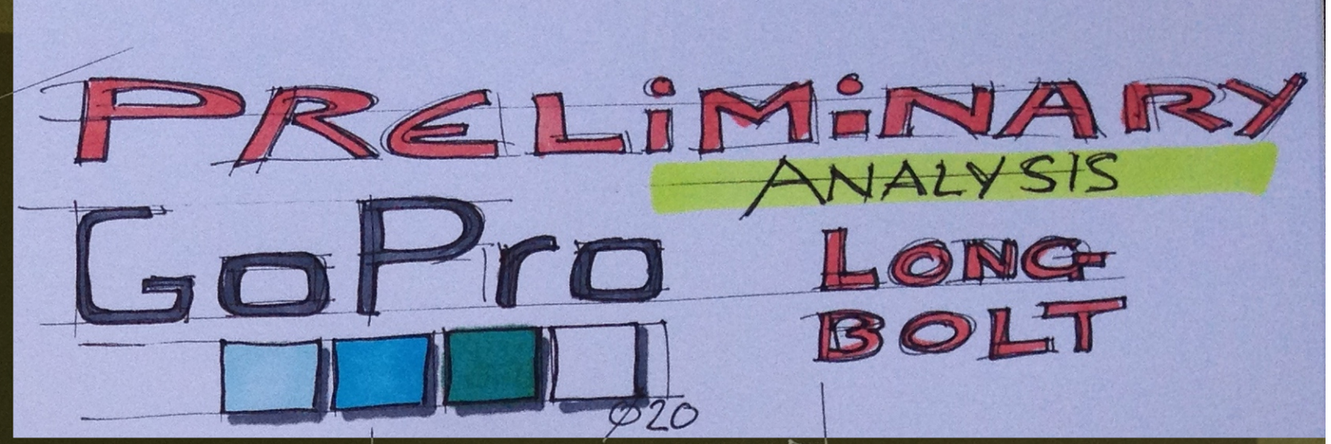
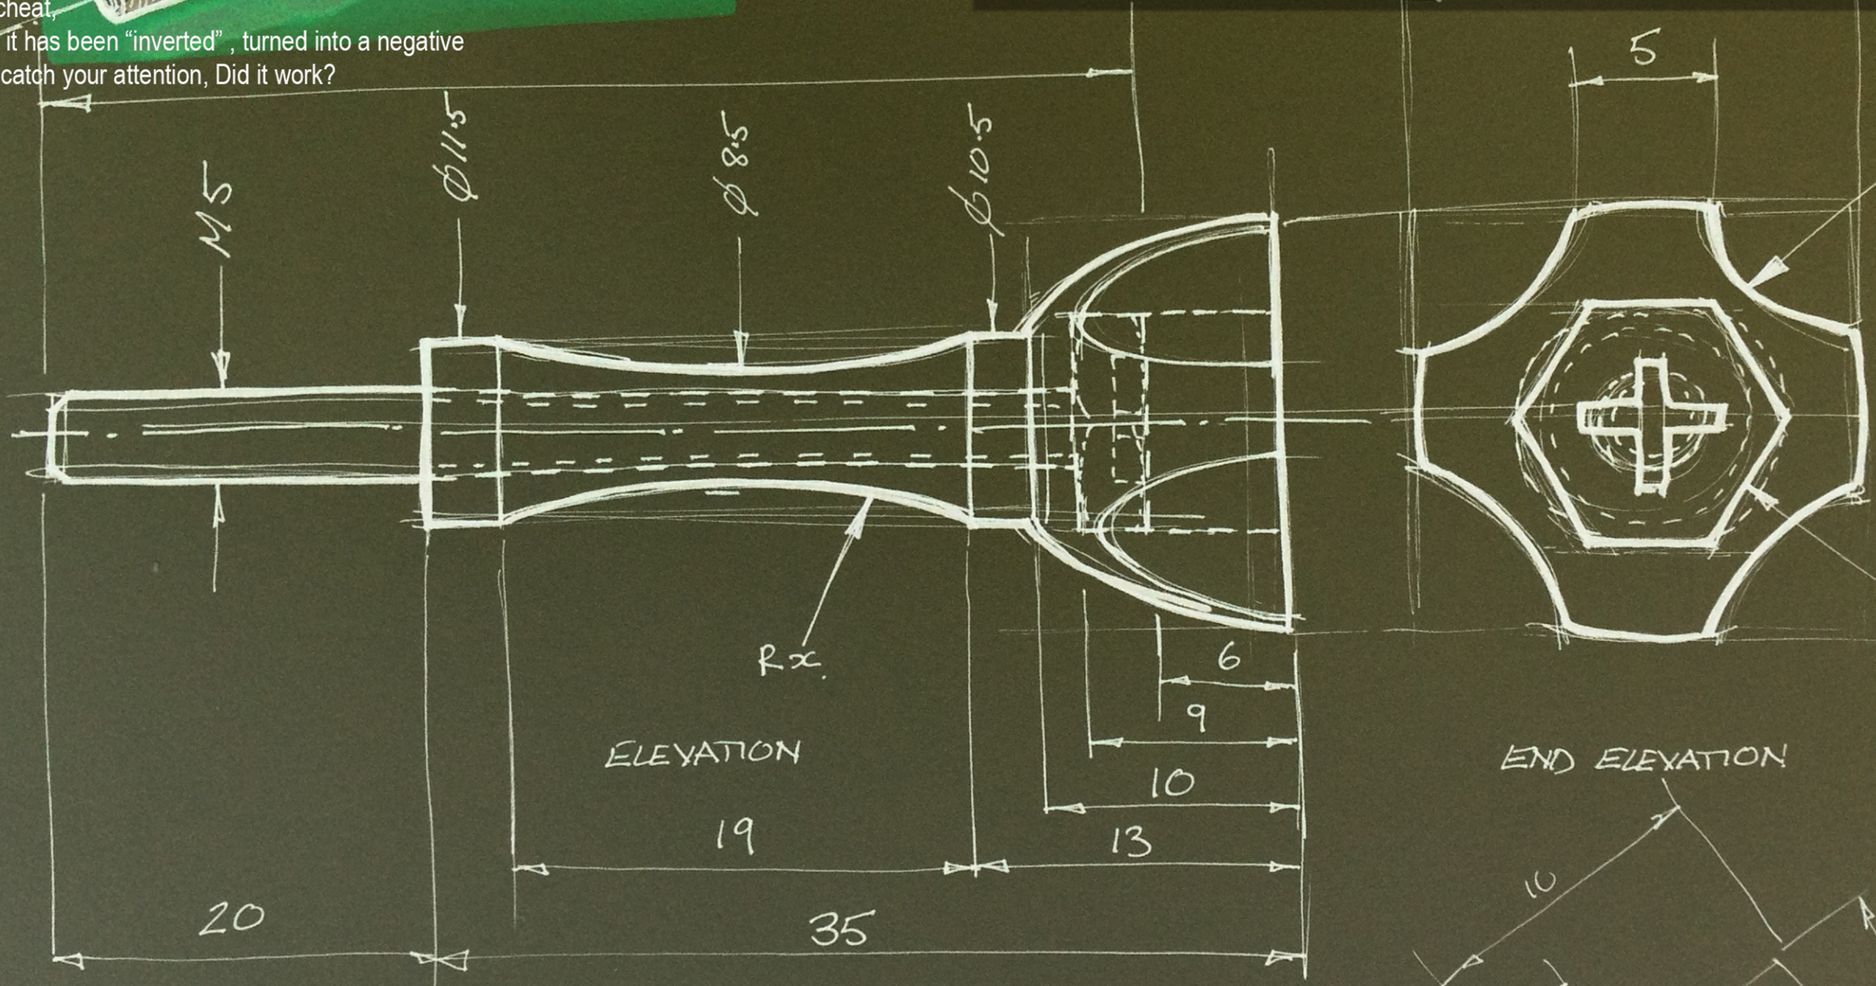
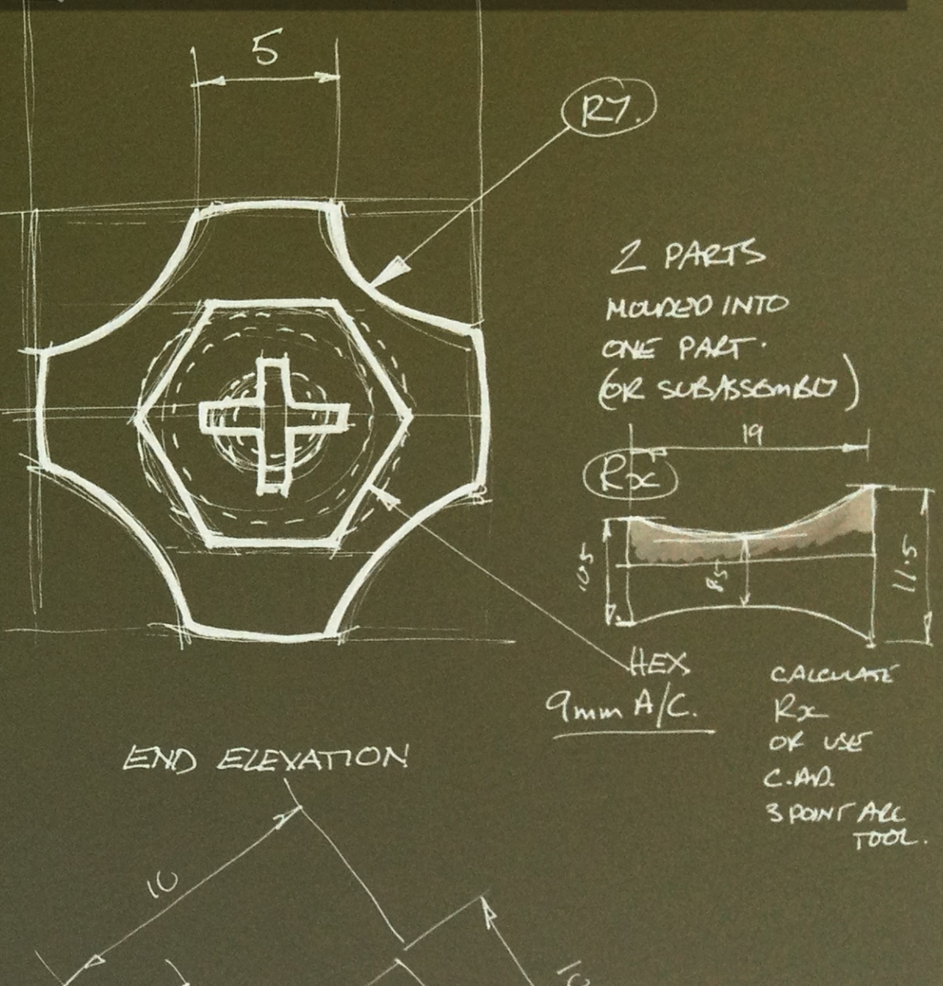
This page is a bit of a cheat, as it has been “inverted” , turned into a negative to catch your attention, Did it work?







WWW.getagrip.graphics
free open source resources for teaching design and graphics